Note that although this Traveline timetable says 26 July to 31 August, all the other information on the internet suggests that the service is actually commencing on 18 July.

It runs every 20 minutes from 8am to 7pm. The bus will travel north along the A39, turn left at the roundabout and travel down the A3072 (Stratton Road), stopping at The Strand / entrance to Summerleaze Beach, then onto Crooklets Beach, back to The Strand and returns to the Park and Ride field.

Roadside signs approaching Bude will direct visitors to the Park & Ride. A new feature this year is an electronic information board displaying real time information on spaces available in the main car parks in Bude. This is situated on the A39

Where does the bus stop?

The bus will stop at both The Strand and Crooklets, based on feedback from the public last year.

How often will the buses run?

Based on feedback from last year, the buses will be starting earlier, at 8am. This will allow them to be used by people working in the town. They will run every 20 minutes, 7 days a week, including the August Bank Holiday weekend. The buses will run later on Bank Holiday Monday to support the Lifeboat Day.

Tickets will cost:

- Free travel for those with a senior buss pass
- Family return (up to 2 adults and 4 children): £7.50 (only available in July)

Why is Future Coast Bude trialling a Park & Ride?

Future Coast Bude is part of the £200m Flood and Coastal Innovation Programmes, funded by Defra and managed by the Environment Agency.

The project is working with the community to explore how Bude can respond and adapt to the long-term challenges of coastal change and climate change, including increasing pressure on roads, parking and public spaces during busy periods.

The Park & Ride pilot is funded through Future Coast Bude and is being trialled during the summer season to explore whether alternative parking and transport options could help reduce congestion and pressure on town centre car parks at peak times.
